

The Spark M. Matsunaga Institute for Peace and
The Institute of Asian-Pacific Business Law

Present:

China's Burgeoning Internet: What Internet Businesses Can Do To Protect Human Rights

China is the biggest Internet market in the world, but companies like Google have discovered the difficulty of balancing Chinese rule of law with user freedom. This talk discusses the intersection of technology, law, business and society for Internet companies in China.

Feb. 10, 2010

1:30 pm – 2:30 pm

Campus Center, Room 308

University of Hawai'i at Manoa

Speaker

Yutian Ling

Research Fellow, Matsunaga Institute for Peace &
Institute of Asian-Pacific Business Law

Chair

Carole Petersen

Director, Matsunaga Institute for Peace &
Associate Professor, William S. Richardson School of Law