

PROGRAM ON CONFLICT RESOLUTION

Matsunaga Institute for Peace, University of Hawai`i at Mānoa

PCR Working Paper Series: 2005-01

Resolving Discrimination Disputes in Higher Education: Qualitative Field Research at the University of Hawai`i

by

Brian Jarrett

Resolving Discrimination Disputes in Higher Education: Qualitative Field
Research at the University of Hawai`i

by

Brian Jarrett

University of Hawai`i at Mānoa
Program on Conflict Resolution

The Program on Conflict Resolution (PCR) seeks to improve the theory and practice of dispute resolution through coordinated research and education. It is a multidisciplinary endeavor. The five major project areas are: public disputes, family disputes, dispute management in the schools, dispute resolution in the courts and dispute processes in Asia and the Pacific. In addition, PCR works collaboratively with various community group agencies in Hawai`i, the Pacific Basin, and the U.S. mainland, and with other university-based conflict resolution programs throughout the United States.

PCR Program Staff:

Chair: Kem Lowry
Program Manager: Karen Cross
Administrative Specialist: Patricia Shields
Librarian: Dona Christensen

PCR Policy Committee:

Peter Adler, President, The Keystone Center
David C. Bangert, Professor, College of Business Administration
John Barkai, Professor, William S. Richardson School of Law
Bruce E. Barnes, Associate Professor, Conflict Resolution
David Chandler, Professor, Sociology
Susan Chandler, Director, Public Policy Center & Professor, School of Social Work
Betty A. Ching, Consultant
Donna R. Ching, Extension Specialist, UH Family & Consumer Services
Linda Colburn, Consultant
Dolores Foley, Associate Professor, Public Administration
Amy S. Ebesu Hubbard, Associate Professor, Department of Speech
Elizabeth Kent, Deputy Director, State Department of Human Services
Neal Milner, Professor, Political Science
Paul Pedersen, Visiting Professor, UH Department of Psychology
Marina Piscalish, Mapping Change, LLC
Kim Small, Special Projects Coordinator, East-West Center
Carolyn Stephenson, Associate Professor, Political Science
Tracey Wiltgen, Executive Director, Mediation Center of the Pacific

Permission for Reproduction:

Permission is granted to reproduce this material for non-profit, non-commercial, or educational use, provided that any such use credits the author(s) and the University of Hawai`i Program on Conflict Resolution. Any other use requires written pre-approval from PCR.

Program on Conflict Resolution

I. University of Hawai`i at Mānoa

2424 Maile Way, Saunders 523
Honolulu, HI 96822

Tel: (808) 956-6433 • Fax: (808) 956-9121 • Email: program@hawaii.edu

Website: <http://www.peaceinstitute.hawaii.edu/>

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	3
I Resolving Claims of Unlawful Discrimination at the University
A. Current Procedures, Practice, and Protocols	4
B. University Organizational Structure	7
C. Combating Structural Discrimination	10
II Methods
A. Participation Group	14
B. Interview Design	14
III Eight Emergent Themes	16
A. Analysis of Each Theme	17
1. Challenging the Neutrality Ethic	17
2. Addressing Structural Inequalities	19
3. Challenging Dispute Frames	21
4. Promoting Meaningful Dialogue	23
5. Involving Trained Outsiders	25
6. Rethinking the Chairperson's Disciplinary Role	26
7. Balancing Academic Freedom with Collegiality	27
8. Discouraging Rival Factions	29
IV Meta-Themes	31
Conclusion	34
References	45

FIGURES

Figure 1:	University of Hawai`i Alternative Dispute Resolution Program	6
Figure 2:	Grouping Similar Themes	31
Figure 3:	Groping Themes by Practitioner Orientation	33

APPENDICES

Appendix 1	Challenging the Neutrality Ethnic	37
Appendix 2	Addressing Structural Inequalities	38
Appendix 3	Challenging Dispute Frames	39
Appendix 4	Promoting Meaningful Dialogue	40
Appendix 5	Involving Trained Outsiders	41
Appendix 6	Rethinking the Chairperson's Disciplinary Role	42
Appendix 7	Balancing Academic Freedom with Collegiality	43
Appendix 8	Discouraging the Formation of Rival Factions	44